

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES.

THIRTEENTH YEAR

GETTYSBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JULY 20th, 1915.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

1-3 OFF ANY STRAW HAT

Eckert's Store,
"ON THE SQUARE"

PHOTOPLAY

CHARLIE CHAPLIN AND MABEL NORMAND
IN MABEL'S BUSY DAY KEYSTONE COMEDY
HELEN HOLMES
IN A RAILROADER'S BRAVERY
KALEM HAZARD OF HELEN NUMBER
Just as the locomotive is about to crush Henry beneath the wheels Helen Holmes, perched on the cow-catcher, stoops forward and snatches him from the jaws of death.
BESSIE LEARN AND PAT O'MALLEY
IN
ACCORDING TO THEIR LIGHTS TWO REEL EDISON
The bold free air of the mountaineers, who in their fierce love and hate, are a law unto themselves, has been wonderfully pictured in this two reel tragedy.
BOBBY'S BARGAIN BIOGRAPH COMEDY DRAMA
Bobby trades his toys on a little baby and takes it home.
SHOW STARTS 6:30. ADMISSION 5 CENTS TO ALL

Continuous from 6.30 to 11 p.m.
WALTER'S THEATRE
Admission
5 cents
MR. and MRS. SIDNEY DREW
IN A THREE PART VITAGRAPH COMEDY
"BETWEEN THE TWO OF THEM"
Two heads are better than one. Majorie proves it, and cures her husband's conceit and makes the play a big success.
"MA'S GIRLS"
A TWO REEL Selig drama of Western atmosphere containing unusual situations, and an out-of-the-ordinary plot. An entirely new Western photoplay.
TO-MORROW NIGHT:— ALICE JOYCE IN A STRONG THREE REEL DRAMA "THE FACE OF THE MADONNA."

REGULAR $2.50
French Ivory Alarm Clocks to be sold for (while the supply lasts)
$1.59.
People's -:- Drug -:- Store

Corrugated Galvanized Culvert Pipe
For Sale at Bigam's Hardware Store
BIGLERVILLE

TYPE "A" —FOR FORDS
THE BETHLEHEM 5 POINT SPARK PLUG
GUARANTEED FOR THE LIFE OF THE CAR
THE QUALITY PLUG.
EBERHART'S AUTO SUPPLY STORE
Eagle Hotel Bldg

MOVE AGAIN FOR STREET PAVING

Highway Committee of Town Council Secures Approval of County Commissioners. Will Present their Request to State Authorities.

Further action to secure the paving of several Gettysburg streets was taken this morning when the highway committee of the town council appeared before the county commissioners and secured their approval to the present plans. A letter from the commissioners will be presented with the borough's request to the Highway Department of Pennsylvania on Wednesday.

Under the present plans Chambersburg street is to be paved from the Eagle Hotel to Centre Square, while Baltimore street is to be paved from Centre Square to Steinwehr avenue.
The State is to pay half and the borough is to finance the remainder; the town, the property owners and the transit company dividing the cost.

The letter adopted by the county commissioners this morning and to accompany the borough's request reads as follows:

July 20th, 1915.
State Highway Commissioner, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—
The attached application of the Borough of Gettysburg for state aid in the construction of 2900 feet, more or less, of the streets in said Borough, and for which the Borough agrees to pay one half of the cost of construction and maintenance, has been submitted to the Board of Commissioners of Adams County, and the Commissioners respectfully request that your Department take favorable action upon the petition in order that the road may be built without delay; and further request that said application be given preference over any other application now pending in your Department from Adams County.

This request is made with the distinct understanding that the County of Adams shall not be liable in the first instance or ultimately for any portion of the cost of construction or future maintenance.

Very respectfully yours,
N. R. BEAMER,
S. Mc. EICHLITZ,
S. N. KEAGY,
Commissioners of Adams County.

Attest:—
GEORGE W. BAKER,
Clerk.

LUTHERAN REUNION

300 Parishes, With 100,000 Members to be Represented.

The annual reunion of the Lutheran churches of Maryland, District of Columbia, the Virginias and Southern Pennsylvania will be held at Pen Mar on Thursday. With fair weather, from 8,000 to 10,000 persons are expected to attend. The reunion territory embraces 300 parishes and 100,000 members.

Addresses will be made by Rev.
Dr. Harry H. Weber, of York, secretary of the church extension and home mission boards; Dr. J. A. Singmaster, of Gettysburg, and others. Music will be furnished by the Boys' Band of the Tressler Orphans' Home, Loysville.

BARN BURNED

Thousand Bushels of this Year's Wheat is Destroyed.

Damage to the amount of $5,000 was done when a barn on a farm four miles from Carlisle, owned by George H. Stewart and tenanted by George Rose, burned to the ground on Sunday.

The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock in the morning when it had already made headway. No efforts were made to check the blaze which was beyond control. The contents of the building included a thousand bushels of wheat just harvested, all of the hay crop and much farm machinery. No animals were in the barn.

TEAMS for Hoffman Orphanage anniversary will leave Weaver's Store Thursday morning at 9:30.—advertisement 1

WANTED to rent: small house. Apply Times office.—advertisement 1

TWO furnished rooms for rent in Stallsmith building.—advertisement 1

Aug. 11—St. Francis Xavier Picnic.
Round Top.

LIGHTNING HIT TWO BUILDINGS

Residence and Store are Damaged.
New Chester Has Terrifying Experience when Three Strokes Follow Each Other Rapidly.

In a terrific electrical storm which passed over New Chester, between seven and eight o'clock Monday evening the store of E. C. Winand and the residence of William Shank were struck, and extensive damage was done at both places.

A large tree opposite the residence of Jefferson McIntire and near the Reformed church, was also struck.

The three claps of thunder following the strokes of lightning in rapid succession terrified all the residents of the village and of the country nearby, and it was feared that more serious harm had been wrought.

Mrs. Shank was alone in the house at the time her residence was struck.
She was severely stunned but retained consciousness and is recovering nicely from the effects of her experience. The bolt struck in the upper portion of the house, tore off plastering, and knocked down a shutter, shattered a window, and splintered all the woodwork about the window frame.
Other minor damage was done about the place, which fortunately did not take fire.

The stroke of lightning which damaged the Winand property also hit in the upper part of the building. It struck one of the corners, ripped off some of the weather boarding, and followed the spouting to the other side of the structure. A shutter was torn off and the plastering on the interior was damaged. No one was in the building at the time.

The rainfall was general over most of the county Monday evening but storms were experienced at only a few places, the clouds traveling rapidly and over a well defined path.
Where the electricity did visit, it was severe and the display was dazzling while it lasted.

Those portions which had the rain benefited greatly by it, the farmers welcoming it keenly.

SAVED AUTO

John Shoemaker's Machine Taken from Shed Near New Oxford.

John Shoemaker, of near Little-town, motored in his new Buick car, to the home of Simpson Mummett, who lives on the Himes farm, about one and one half miles from New Oxford. He placed the car in the wagon-shed disconnecting the wires attached to the spark plug and also those wires which connect the magneto, because he had forgotten the key to the car.

During the evening the car was taken by thieves and pushed to a hill, at some distance from the farm.
The thieves not knowing how to connect the wires properly, were compelled to let the machine stand. The car which was recovered is valued at $1000.

OVER $200,000

Two Years' Work on Lincoln Highway in Iowa.

Work on the Lincoln Highway during the past 12 months in the 13 counties of Iowa through which the great transcontinental highway passes cost $146,000, according to figures submitted by the county engineers of these counties and published in the June number of the Iowa State Highway Bulletin. Estimates given as to the cost of the work to be completed during 1915 show that a total of $57,971 will be added to this sum.
These figures do not include the money spent inside the corporate limits of municipalities.

UNCLAIMED LETTERS

Matter Awaiting Call is now Being Advised.

Mail for the following remains unclaimed at the Gettysburg post office: J. Fred Diener, Mr. and Mrs. W.
Howland, Mrs. John Keittell, Raymond Kline, William G. Nyce.

WANTED to hire by the month a good modern passenger automobile.
Chauffeur will be furnished also oils and tires after the first ones which may be on the machine. Address "A" this office.—advertisement 1

CORNELIUS BENDER TAKEN BY DEATH

Member of Family which Founded Bendersville. Had been a Life Long Resident of that Section.
Funeral on Thursday Morning.

Cornelius Bender, son and nephew of the two men for whom the town of Bendersville was named, and last surviving member of his family, died at his home at Aspers Monday evening at 6:30. He was aged 82 years, 5 months, and 16 days.

Mr. Bender was born and reared at Bendersville, a son of Henry Bender.
It was for Henry Bender and his brother, Jacob Bender, that the village was given its name. A number of other brothers and sisters composed the family, all of whom are now dead.

In December 1862 Mr. Bender married Miss Annie Jacobs who survives him together with two children, Rev.
H. W. Bender, pastor of the Lutheran church, of Lilly, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. C. L. Osborne, of Biglerville. He also leaves one grandchild. For sixty seven years Mr. Bender was a member of the Evangelical church, at the time of his death holding his membership with the congregation at Idaville.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning, meeting at the house at 9:30. Services at the Bendersville Lutheran church, and interment in Bendersville cemetery.

Friends and relatives will kindly accept this as an invitation to attend.

SAMUEL E. STAUFFER

Samuel E. Stauffer, a former resident of this county, died at his late home, in Hanover, at 12:30 o'clock Monday morning, from infirmities. He had attained the age of 91 years, 5 months and 4 days.

In early life he was engaged in farming in York and Adams counties.
Thirty four years ago he moved to Hanover and engaged in the draying business which he followed until six years ago when he retired at the age of 85 years.

MUST SAVE UMPIRES

Mob Scenes on League Diamonds
Must be Stopped.

President Boyer, of the Blue Ridge League, wrote an official letter to presidents of the clubs, calling on them to take steps to prevent outbreaks against the umpires. The letter reads in part as follows:

Much to my regret there have been several times recently that games have been interrupted by "so-called" mobs, which have threatened the official umpire.

Nearly every case can be traced to players "baiting" umpires for one reason only—to get the crowd after that official.

These occurrences do our League a great harm, and must be stopped at once. You as officers of this League should use every effort in your means to prevent any such affairs again happening in our league.

STEALS PLAYER

Paddy Kane Induces Zachary to Leave Martinsburg.

Catcher Zachary jumped the Martinsburg team Sunday, going to Cambridge, to catch on "Paddy" Kane's outfit. Last week Zachary wired the manager of the Cambridge team for a berth, and then let it be known that he would "jump" the Martinsburg team unless he was given a raise of $10 per month in salary. The management refused to give him more money, and Zachary left. He was immediately suspended by the management, but was not released, and cannot play in organized base ball, for the remainder of this season, at least.

TO MANY STATES

J. H. Mehrling Will Attend Fairs and Poultry Shows.

J. Harry Mehrling, of Littlestown, breeder and dealer in fancy poultry and chickens, is very busy getting his stock in readiness for exhibition at the coming county fairs and poultry shows. Mr. Mehrling will leave August 14th with 380 fancy chickens and 246 pigeons, which he will exhibit in New York, Vermont, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

KODAK films, everything in Kodak line always fresh. Huber's Drug Store.—advertisement 1

BRAVE STORM FOR THE CHAUTAUQUA

People Do not Let Weather Interfere with their Enjoyment of Evening Session. Part of it was Held in Darkness.

Just what a real live Chautauqua fan will face in order to enjoy every session of the week was well demonstrated in Gettysburg on Monday evening when, with lights out, rain falling, and lightning flashing about the heavens, a large audience sat in darkness and heard and applauded the Crawford-Adams Trio.

Black clouds hung in the north, the east, and the west. Heavy thunder rolled as many of the people went out to the tent, and one flash of lightning put out of commission all of the electric lights in the north end of town.
Three dim lanterns were all that could be secured to light up the tent, but the crowd came and the entertainment started promptly at the appointed time.

The Crawford Adams Trio again delighted local people. Mr. Adams was most generous and played a large number of selections which were requested by persons in the audience.
The company appeared both afternoon and evening. The lighting arrangement was repaired shortly before the conclusion of their second program.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman's lecture on "A Modern Babylon" was generally accepted to have been one of the best ever given from a local Chautauqua platform. He covered a wide scope and held his audience for more than an hour with the greatest ease.

The attraction this afternoon and this evening is Colangelo's Italian Band. Wednesday afternoon, in addition to the series lecture, the Boston Oratorio Artists will appear. They will give the prelude in the evening and the lecture by Montaville Flowers will follow.

OUR OXFORD ROAD

Thought she was in Maryland after Leaving Gettysburg.

The Cumberland Valley letter in the Philadelphia "North American" says:

Recently a Chambersburg man drove his family to Gettysburg. His little daughter occupied the front seat with him, and the little one commented on the various conditions of the roads as they were met. After doing Gettysburg, the father decided to go on toward York for a spin on the rebuilt road from Gettysburg east. As soon as the machine hit this stretch of road, which is fine beyond question, the little daughter looked up at father with:

"Now we are in Maryland aren't we, papa?"

She had been used, in going to Hagerstown or Clearspring, to the remark from an elder, as soon as the good road was hit, that the state line had been crossed.

SKIP GETTYSBURG

Cavalry Takes Other Route to Go into Camp.

Troops I and L, of the Fifth United States cavalry, stationed at Fort Myer, Va., passed through Little-town and the lower end of the county on Sunday. The soldiers are enroute from Fort Myer to Mt. Gretna.

The cavalymen have been sent to instruct militiamen from Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey. While en route the troops are under the command of Captain Cornell. Other officers in charge of the cavalymen are Captain Barton, Lieutenant Carlisle and Lieutenant Sheridan.

MUCH WANTED

Two Teams Desired the Service of Joe Laughlin.

Joseph Laughlin, former manager of the Hagerstown base ball club, Blue Ridge League, has gone to Newport News, where he is under contract to play with Newport News club, Virginia League. Two hours after Laughlin had accepted Newport News club's terms he received a telegram from Jack Dunn, Richmond club, International League, saying,
"Can use you, report immediately."

100 trimmed hats, half price and less. Smith's Hat Shop, Chambersburg street.—advertisement 1

VOTERS HAVE TO REGISTER NOW

Last Days for those who have Changed their Place of Residence to Get in Line for the Fall Primary Election.

Voters in Adams County should bear in mind that to-morrow, July 21, is the last day for declaring their enrollment as members of one or the other political party. The enrollment of a voter outside of a city remains the same from year to year; unless he declares he has changed it, he remains in the same election district.
No voter may participate in a party primary, of course, unless he is enrolled, although the mere matter of registry entitles him to participate in the non-partisan primaries.

The method of enrollment in boroughs and the rural districts differs from the method in cities, for the same reason that the method of registration differs. In all cities voters must be enrolled each year at the time of personal registration, if they wish to take part in party primaries.
In all other election districts, however, the party enrollment of a voter, if made at any time under the act of 1913, remains the same until his death, unless he shall give notice that he has changed.

Assessors and registry assessors in the country districts are required to sit at the regular polling places on the sixty-second and sixty-third days preceding the primary, which will be to-day and to-morrow.

On either of these days, a voter may go before them and have his enrollment changed, if he has not already done so since the election last November. Or, if a voter has moved into a new district since last November, it will be necessary for him to see to his enrollment if he wishes to participate in party primaries. In boroughs and townships the only non-partisan ballot this year will be for local judgeships.

SHIP ON FIRE

Mr. Knox's Company Recently Launched Boat in Danger.

Considerable local interest attaches to the fire which was discovered on board the battleship Oklahoma, recently launched at the Camden yards of the New York Shipbuilding Company March 23 and just about ready to put to sea. Samuel M. Knox, whose family is spending the summer at Knox-lyn, and who frequently spends his Sundays with them, is president of the company.

The fire occurred at the Camden yards of the company last night about seven o'clock.

A double cordon of company guards was at once thrown about the yards.
The first line surrounded the outer limits of the yard, driving back every one except officers of the company and firemen. A second line took position inside the yards close to the burning ship as a double precaution in case any one got through the first line.

The officers of the company refused to give any information except that the fire started under gun turret No.
1. It was said a watchman was on board at the time. Officers of the company would not say whether or not the ship contained ammunition or explosives, and denied they had any reason to suspect incendiaries.

Fifteen minutes after the companies had left the scene they were called back for a second fire, which was not extinguished until 45 minutes later.

A third fire broke out on the Oklahoma at 11:30 o'clock, and the fire companies were again called to the scene. The third fire broke out in turret No. 2, on the other end of the battleship.

COWS EAT POISON

Two are Dead as Result of Wandering from Home.

From the effects of a weed poison, placed on the grass along one of the avenues, two cows of H. Grant Weikert, Cumberland township, are dead and a third is not expected to recover.
The animals got the poison when they wandered from one of Mr. Weikert's fields.

STRAYED: black mule with mealy nose, two years old. Any one having information please notify J. S. Smith, R. 3 Gettysburg.—advertisement 1

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES

Published Daily Except Sunday
Times and News Publishing Company

W. LAYNE HAFER,
Secretary and Treasurer.

PHILIP R. BIKLE, President.

PHILIP R. BIKLE, Editor.

SUBSCRIPTION Served by carrier in Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
Mailed outside of Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
Single copies to non-subscribers, 2 cents.

If you receive THE TIMES by mail you can find the date up to which you are paid on the pink address label on your paper. The date will be changed within ten days after your money is received at The Times Office.

Entered August 15, 1904, at Gettysburg, Pa., as second-class matter, under Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

BELL PHONE

UNITED PHONE

Office in Northwest corner of Centre Square, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Want ads. One cent per word each insertion. Two cents a word if guaranteed first page position. Resolutions of respect, poetry and memorials one cent per word.

TO OUR READERS

The Gettysburg Times takes absolutely no part in politics, being neutral on all such matters. Anything that appears in our general news columns, concerning state or national politics, is furnished us by The American Press Association, a concern which gives the same news to Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, or Socialist papers and which is strictly non-partisan. Our advertising columns are open to all candidates of all parties.

REDUCTION

On Cotton Fly Nets

Work and driving nets are marked just

20 PER CENT Off Regular Prices

Look at the price tag on the net you select and pay us one-fifth less. Good Standard nets, every one of them, but this has been a poor fly season and they are scheduled to move.

Adams County Hardware Co.

Gettysburg & Chautauqua

JULY 16th. TO 22nd.

Director PAUL M. PEARSON who has spent 19 years in Chautauqua work, has this to say about it:

"The 1915 program is the best we have ever presented. I have chosen the talent each year, I know exactly what has been given. For 1915 we have more variety and a series of entertainments of a higher quality than in any previous year."

HERE IS THE LIST

Chaucer J. Hawkins, Montaville Flowers
The Grand Singers, George H. Turner
Springer Master of Magic, Boston Oratorio Artists, Dinner Crawford Adams Trio, Varkony-Himes Co.
Dr. S. Parkes Coleman, The Avon Players,
Colangelo's Italian Band and Orchestra, Carel's Chronophotographs

The Junior Chautauqua each morning from 9 until 11.
A Course ticket costing $2.00, admits you to every session of the week.

PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERNS

THE SUMMER FASHION BOOK

15 cents for each of the above patterns.
We cannot reproduce here all the resources for the wonderful popularity of Pictorial Review Patterns, but request you to visit our pattern department.

PICTORIAL REVIEW CO.,

222 West 39th Street.

New York City, N. Y.

LIGHTNING RODS

To the public: any-one wanting new lightning rods of almost any make, (cable or copper twisted) or rods repaired at reasonable prices call on either phone.

H. E. RIDDLEMOSER, McKnightstown

Also sell and install the famous Air motor wind pumps.

BECKER'S TALE OF FAMOUS MURDER

Brings Name of Big Tim Sullivan Into Tragedy.

WEBBER'S JEALOUSY CAUSE

Declares Gunmen Were Hired to Kidnap, Not to Kill, Rosenthal, the "Squealing" Gambler.

New York, July 20.—Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker's own account of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, as sent to Governor Whitman from the Sing Sing death house, in the hope of obtaining clemency, was revealed by an attorney who has aided the condemned man in his preparation.

Becker is to be put to death next week unless some action intervenes to prevent or postpone his execution.

These are the salient facts in the tale which Becker has kept locked up in his breast until now, and which for the first time brings the name of "Big Tim" Sullivan into the tragedy: Rosenthal was backed in his gambling business by "Big Tim." Becker protected Rosenthal's establishment because of his fear of "Big Tim" and raised it, upon orders, and under the impression that Police Commissioner Waldo was under "Big Tim's" thumb. Sullivan became panic stricken when Rosenthal tried to "sneak" and gave Jack Rose $6000 to pay Rosenthal to get out of the country. Rose, desirous of keeping the most of the money for himself, arranged with the four "gunmen" and "Bridgie" Webber to kidnap Rosenthal and scare him into leaving the country.

Murder was not contemplated. Harry Vallon, crazed with drink, began to shoot when Rosenthal emerged from the Metropole hotel, instead of "slugging" the gambler with a black jack. Then the other members of the party joined in.

Becker knew of the arrangements, but washed his hands of them. "Big Tim," realizing that Becker was innocent and fearing that he himself would be implicated in it, let Becker be convicted, and then worried him self to the point of insanity. It was while suffering from a mental collapse that his body was found upon the New York Central tracks in Harlem. Rev. Father J. P. Curry, spiritual adviser to Becker, it is stated, declared that Becker related the same tale to him three years ago.

According to Becker's narrative the real motive which led to the murder was "Bridgie" Webber's jealousy of Rosenthal's success. Webber wrote several letters to Police Commissioner Waldo, complaining of Rosenthal's gambling house and signing the name of "Harry Williams" to them. When Waldo told Becker to investigate the charges contained in the letter, the police lieutenant went to Sullivan, who said to him: "I'll fix it up. You let the house keep going."

Becker, believing Waldo was really under the influence of Sullivan (a lie that was wholly erroneous), failed to raid the place.

When Waldo received other letters, however, Becker saw that he would have to act, so he went to Sullivan and the latter told him to go ahead and raid the Rosenthal establishment in due time this raid took place.

"What does this mean?" asked Sullivan. "Rosenthal is going before the grand jury and he is going to implicate me." "That's all right," Becker says he told Sullivan. "All the witnesses have been fixed." Jack Rose, who was present, corroborated this.

It was at this meeting, Becker says, that the question of getting Rosenthal out of the country was discussed. Rose said he knew that Rosenthal would leave for $6000. The money was quickly obtained, and Rose was commissioned to turn it over to Rosenthal and get him out of the United States. Rose hoped to turn the trick with $1000 and keep the other $5000 for himself.

The plans were made to kidnap Rosenthal, and the party met at Webber's gambling room. The party was drinking, and Vallon became "dead drunk." Finally Webber went out and found Rosenthal at the Metropole. The gunmen went out to carry out their orders, which, according to Becker, were to knock Rosenthal in sensible and carry him away. However, one of the party, Vallon, started shooting.

Canal Boatmen Fires at Bathers. Allentown, Pa., July 20.—For firing a shotgun at a party of bathers in the Lehigh canal, Samuel Leighleiter, of Mauch Chunk, was arrested here. Leighleiter is captain of a canal boat. As he passed along near Easton some bathers put their hands on the boat. Leighleiter fired. Davis and Harrison Ammerman were each hit by about a dozen of the pellets and other bathers by from one to six.

Jitneys Forcing Interurban Out. Charleston, W. Va., July 20.—Declaring that jitney bus competition had seriously affected its business, the Charleston Interurban Railroad company asked the public service commission to let it discontinue traffic on two of its lines, one of them an interurban.

Fine for the Midgets. A theater manager in Hungary sells seats in accordance with the size of his patrons; the shorter being seated in the front rows and the taller behind them.

THE BATTLE IS OVER.

A Common Scene of Desolation In Galicia.

Photo by American Press Association.

PRINCE MAKES NEW RUSH NEAR VERDUN

Another Attempt to Cut the French Lines.

London, July 20.—Violent attacks have been launched by the Germans over an extended front, according to the statement issued by the French war office.

All the attacks were repulsed, however, by the French. The French positions near Souchez, in the Argonne and in Lorraine were assaulted by the German infantry and hard fighting followed in these quarters.

The statement indicates that the Germans under the crown prince have renewed their efforts to break the French lines of communication west of Verdun.

Following is the French official report:

"In Belgium the enemy bombarded with considerable violence our line of trenches at St. Georges, as well as the village and church of Boesinghe.

"In Artois the Germans towards midnight made an attack west and southwest of Souchez on a front of 1200 yards, but were repulsed.

"In the Argonne a German attack in the region of St. Hubert was driven back. In Apremont encounters occurred with bombs and grenades, without infantry action.

"In Lorraine, at Nahof, on the Sefle, and on the southeast borders of the forest of Parroy, some advance post encounters were reported, where in we had advantage."

WANTED TO BE A HERO

Man Who Put Bomb on P. R. R. Track Offers Novel Reason.

Reading, Pa., July 20.—A bomb containing twenty sticks of dynamite, and placed on the Pennsylvania railroad track at Newton Hamilton, near Altoona, on Thursday night, just before a flyer from Chicago was due, was put there by Harry F. Westbrook, thirty-two years old, of Reading, who was arrested and who confessed.

He said that he was inspired to the deed by the exploits of Frank Holt, who, after exploding a bomb in the capitol at Washington, tried to kill J. P. Morgan.

Westbrook declares that he intended no harm to the train. He said that he thought he would be regarded as a hero if he "found" the bomb, and the benefit would be derived by his wife and children. He therefore went to Altoona, placed the bomb, which he had made at home, on the track, and removed it just before the train arrived.

Hail Damages Tobacco Crop.

Lancaster, Pa., July 20.—Another hailstorm damaged many more acres of Lancaster county's new tobacco crop, this being the only drawback to a week of perfect growing weather, which forced ahead the young plants to a surprising extent. While the general cutting of the crop is from six to eight weeks off yet, several early planted crops near Washington borough were cut last week.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of United States weather bureaus taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow:

Temp.	Weather.
Atlantic City.... 74	Cloudy.
Boston..... 68	Cloudy.
Buffalo..... 75	Cloudy.
Chicago..... 64	P. Cloudy.
New Orleans.... 80	Rain.
New York..... 77	Cloudy.
Philadelphia... 76	Cloudy.
St. Louis..... 80	P. Cloudy.
Washington.... 74	Cloudy.

The Weather.

Partly cloudy and somewhat cooler today; tomorrow, fair, with moderate temperature.

Do Not Drudge.

Do not drudge like a galley slave, nor do business in such a laborious manner as if you have a mind to be pitted or wondered at.—M. Aurelius.

NOTE TO BERLIN GOES THIS WEEK

President and Lansing Prepare the Draft.

WILL BE BRIEF BUT FIRM

Germany to Be Warned That U. S. Citizens on Merchant Steamers Are Not to Be Endangered.

Washington, July 20.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing prepared the draft of a note on submarine warfare to be submitted to the cabinet today and to be sent to Germany many probably before the end of the present week.

Beyond the fact that the position already taken by the United States in its previous notes will be reiterated, no information was forthcoming at either the White House or state department concerning the probable contents of the new note.

The president cautioned those with whom he counseled to refrain from discussing the notes in advance of its dispatch to Germany, and White House officials particularly requested the correspondents to avoid speculations in detail at this time because the character of the document had not been finally determined.

The note, it is understood, will be comparatively brief, expressing the conclusions of this government as a result of Germany's failure to give the assurances asked for in previous notes, namely, that the lives of Americans traveling on the high seas bound on lawful errands aboard unresisting and unarmed merchantmen be not endangered.

The note, it is virtually agreed, will announce to Germany the intention of the United States to assert its rights on the high seas in accordance with international law. There probably will be little or no discussion of the principles already treated at length in previous notes.

The president is said to have become convinced that the next communication to Germany must point out in much more emphatic terms than heretofore have been used the earnest intention of the American government not to surrender any of its rights.

At yet the case of the British liner Orduna, attacked by a German submarine, has not been brought officially to the attention of the state department.

Secretary Lansing said he had expected word from some of the American passengers aboard, but if this failed to arrive in another day or two he would request one of the department of the government to institute an investigation to obtain accurate information concerning the incident.

Secretary Lansing was at the White House for more than an hour. Although he had been in frequent communication with the president since the latter went to Cornish, it is understood he did not obtain until yesterday the president's final decision of the extent to which the purposes of the United States should be stated.

DANIELS ASKS SCIENTISTS' AID

Eight Societies to Name Two Persons For U. S. Advisory Committee.

Washington, July 20.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels announced that he had invited eight scientific societies in the United States to select two members each to serve on the advisory committee for his proposed new bureau of inventions in the navy.

Those organizations are the American Chemical society, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Institute of Mining Engineers (Metals), American Mathematical society, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Aero nautical society and the Inventors Guild.

WON'T LET BELGIANS FIGHT

Kingdom Treated as if It Were Annexed to Germany.

Brussels, July 20.—General von Bissing, governor general of Belgium promulgated an order for the punishment of any Belgian between the ages of sixteen and forty who leave the state to serve in any capacity for a country at war with Germany. The penalty provided is a fine of 10,000 marks ($2500) or five years imprisonment or both.

The order described in the foregoing would seem to indicate that Governor von Bissing is dealing with Belgium as German territory.

Submarine Sinks Four Ships.

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 20.—A submarine, believed to be English, has entered the Sea of Marmora and sunk the steamship Eliza, an unidentified steamship and two Turkish lighters. The Eliza was sunk in Marmarath harbor. The submarine passed through the Dardanelles and underneath the Turkish warships anchored at the western end of the Sea of Marmora.

1200 Austrian Officers Killed in War. Rome, July 20.—Twelve hundred Austrian officers, including three generals, have been killed since the beginning of the Austrian-Italian war, according to estimates made here.

The Diverted Pin Money.

"The farmer's wife used to get the egg money for little trifles she needed." "Well?" "But now he takes it away from her and buys himself an automobile."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

GENERAL POLIVANOV.

Said to Have Been Chosen Russian Minister of War.

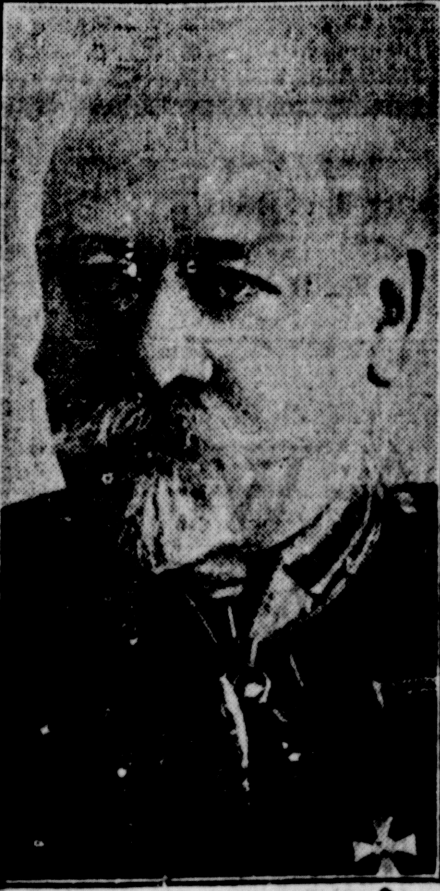

Photo by American Press Association.

ITALIAN WARSHIP SUNK BY TORPEDO

Cruiser Giuseppe Garibaldi Sunk by Austrian Submarine.

Berlin, July 20.—The following official communication was received here from Vienna, under date of July 18:

"An Austrian submarine torpedoed and sank south of Ragusa, the Italian cruiser Giuseppe Garibaldi. The cruiser foundered in fifteen minutes."

The Giuseppe Garibaldi was of 7294 tons displacement, launched at Sestri-Pomente in 1899 and completed in 1901. She was 344 feet long, 69 feet beam and 23½ feet draught, with 14,713 horsepower. The cruiser carried six heavy guns, six secondary, one 10-inch, two 8-inch, fourteen 6-inch, ten 2.9-inch, six 1.8 pounders, and had four torpedo tubes. She was a 20-knot ship and carried 540 men.

Drive Austrians Back.

Geneva, July 20.—Italian troops on the Isonzo front have driven the Austrians back in the sector of Gorizia and advanced 1500 yards in the direction of Tarnova. It is stated in a dispatch from Bologna.

The Italians are now within striking distance of one of the important lines of Austrian communications, running into Gorizia.

KILLS CELLMATE AND SELF

Double Tragedy in Reading Jail Follows Distribution of Knives.

Reading, Pa., July 20.—Frank Snavey was murdered in the Berks county prison by Michael Puttinger, a cell mate, who cut Snavey's throat. Puttinger then committed suicide by hanging.

The watchman had distributed the knives to be used at breakfast. Half an hour later the meal was served by the attendants. When the tragedy was discovered both men were dead. The cell floor was covered with blood from the gash in Snavey's neck.

The attack must have been made as soon as the knives were distributed. There could not have been much of a struggle, as the prisoners in the next cells heard no scuffle.

Snavey, who was known as "Monk," was serving a year for assault, and Puttinger was serving the same length of time for assault and battery and attempt to kill. The officials did not know that there had been any ill feeling between the two men.

It is believed that the crime is due to the fact that the murderer had heard about the slaying of Leo M. Frank in the Georgia state penitentiary.

Work For 5000 Steel Workers.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 20.—The last of the idle steel mills in the Wheeling district was placed in operation when a part of the force returned to work at the Riverside plant of the National Tube company. Two weeks will be required to get all departments going and give work to the 5000 men who have been idle for fourteen months.

Preacher Dies Trying to Save Girl.

Gloucester, Mass., July 20.—Rev. Arthur H. Pingree, pastor of the Congregational church at Norwood, Mass., and Miss Helen Perkins, of the same town, were drowned while bathing at Annisquam beach. Two girls got beyond their depth. The minister rescued one and then went back after Miss Perkins.

Man Killed In Dive.

Columbia, Pa., July 20.—Harry Appold, thirty-four years old, was killed in the Susquehanna river here by striking a submerged boat roller in a dive from a boathouse runway. An examination showed that Appold's neck had been broken.

Dinners Cooked on Public Street.

In nearly every street of the cities of Japan there is a public oven, where, for a small fee, people may have their dinners cooked.

PERSONAL NOTES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Paragraphs of News Telling of the Happenings in and about Town People Visiting Here and Those Sojourning Elsewhere.

Misses Bertha Behler, Amy Diehl and Ruth Diehl, of York, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bender, at Spring Dale Farm, near town.

Rev. J. Luther Sieber and family, of Roanoke, have returned to Gettysburg after a visit with friends in Juniata County.

Mrs. W. H. Aughinbaugh, of York street, is spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fritz, Cashtown.

Mrs. S. H. Taughinbaugh and Miss Marie Taughinbaugh, of Steinwehr avenue, have gone to Altoona where they will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Menchey.

Mrs. E. P. Parthemore and son have returned to their home in Harrisburg after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Spangler, North Washington street. They were accompanied home by Elwood Spangler, who will spend several weeks in Harrisburg.

Dr. J. A. Singmaster, of Seminary Ridge, has gone to Johnstown where he will attend the convention of the Luther League.

Representative Rudisill has gone to Harrisburg to spend several days.

Mrs. William Cox and daughter, Miss May Cox, of Lancaster, are spending several days at the home of John Cox, North Washington street.

Mrs. Elmer Bupp and daughter, Ruth, of York, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Ida Trossell, on East Middle street.

Mrs. Gilbert Myers has returned to her home in Baltimore, after spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yeagy, on South Washington street.

Miss Mary Smith, of McConnellsburg, is spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Smith.

Mrs. Helen Rice and daughter, and Luther Scott have returned to Loyalville after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trostle, Baltimore street.

Miss Elizabeth Hetrick, of Westminster, is a guest at the home of Mrs. C. E. Deatrick, Chambersburg street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClean and children, of New York City, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Faber, Chambersburg street. Mr. and Mrs. William McSherry, of Boston, are spending some time at Mr. McSherry's home on West Middle street.

Truman E. Beard has returned to his home after spending several weeks at Hamburg.

Mrs. Sallie O'Hara and Miss Ella O'Hara, of Baltimore street, are spending some time with friends in Loyalville.

Invisible Ink Known to Romans.

Invisible ink, which figures in the espionage trial, appears to have been known since the early days of writing, for both Ovid and Pliny give recipes for the preparation of such a fluid, the one from milk, the other from various vegetable juices. In the middle ages many writers mention "magnetic" and "magic" inks, the action of which some of them averred to be miraculous. Today such fluids are technically known as "sympathetic inks," and there are numerous patents for their manufacture.

Superstition in Roumania.

The Roumanian is superstitious. He has popular tales that mark the red-headed man and the man without a mustache as strange characters who are sure to work mischief. In some parts of the country there are still old pagan beliefs in witches. Many old semibarbaric customs remain, as, for instance, that of burying the dead with uncovered faces. In some parts of the country a flower is painted on the wall of a cottage wherein lives a girl of marriageable age.

Inducing Hypnotic State.

According to Mangold, the hypnotic condition is induced in man by suggestion or psychological inhibition, but in both cases sensory stimuli may assist. These stimuli may be optic (fixing the gaze on some object), or tactile (stroking the skin), or otherwise. Sometimes an absence of wanted stimuli may induce the state, as in the case of absolute silence.

Don't Waste Time.

When the ladder of success is pointed out to you, don't waste time looking for a moving stairway.

FOR SALE

E. M. F. 30 AUTOMOBILE.

Fore Doors. In good Condition and running order. Can sell cheap.

Apply Times Office

LIST TWO GAMES WITH MAROONS

Errors Back of Greenwell Reason for Gettysburg not having Another Victory in her Standing To-Day. Six Inning Draw.

As the result of a six inning tie played with the Maroons at Chambersburg on Monday, Gettysburg is scheduled to meet the Franklin County outfit in a double header this afternoon, putting three such bills on the program for the week.

Costly errors kept Gettysburg from winning Monday afternoon's abbreviated affair. No less than five were tallied in the short six innings. Greenwell was in the box for the Patriots and allowed only one hit, yet three runs were tallied against him.

With lowering clouds hovering over the field, and darkness coming on rapidly, it looked as though Gettysburg was going to get the short end of the deal but timely hitting in the fifth and sixth tied up the game and it was listed among the postponed events of the season. Umpire Cleary gave general satisfaction.

GETTYSBURG

ABR	H	O	A	E
Pigler, 3 b.....	3	0	0	1
Diehl, 1 b.....	3	0	0	0
Mahadie, c.....	3	0	2	0
Basehor, 1.....	2	1	3	1
Herrel, 1.....	3	0	0	2
Swartz, 2.....	3	0	0	4
Oyler, 3.....	1	1	4	1
Jarwick, c.....	1	1	2	2
Greenwell, p.....	2	0	2	1

24 3 7 18 9 5

CHAMBERSBURG

ABR	H	O	A	E
Snyder, c.....	3	0	0	0
Dunn, 2 b.....	3	0	0	1
Snively, 1 b.....	3	0	0	0
Clay, 1.....	2	0	0	1
Klein, 1.....	1	0	0	1
Moseley, s.....	2	0	0	2
Materson, 3 b.....	2	1	0	1
Moore, c.....	2	1	4	1
Kleskie, p.....	2	1	0	3

18 10 20 3 1 18 9 5

Gettysburg..... 0 0 0 1 2 3

Chambersburg..... 0 0 0 0 0 0

Earned runs—Gettysburg, 1; stolen bases—Oyler; left on bases—Gettysburg, 6; double plays—Clay, Moore; struck out—by Kleskie, 3; by Greenwell, 2; bases on balls—by Kleskie, 2; by Greenwell, 1; time—1:10; umpire—Cleary.

Hanover 6, Frederick 3

Frederick, July 19—Getting their bats working early in the game Hanover knocked Stevens from the mound in the second inning and got away with a 6 to 3 victory. Platt, who started for Hanover, was taken out in the first and Sherman finished.

Rain

The Martinsburg-Hagerstown game scheduled for Monday was postponed on account of rain.

To-Day's Games

Gettysburg at Chambersburg
Hanover at Frederick Hagerstown at Martinsburg

	W	L	P	C
Frederick.....	32	13	7	41
Hanover.....	25	21	5	53
Martinsburg.....	23	20	5	56
Hagerstown.....	20	25	4	44
Chambersburg.....	18	25	4	49
Gettysburg.....	14	28	3	33

To-Morrow's Games

Chambersburg at Gettysburg Martinsburg at Hanover Frederick at Hagerstown

KILLED IN TENT

York County Chautauqua Fans Have Terrifying Experience.

The storm which passed over Gettysburg Monday afternoon acquired alarming proportions by the time it reached Dallastown and the large Chautauqua tent at the latter place collapsed, burying beneath it several hundred persons. Dr. D. F. Mann and Guy Hess were struck by the large center pole and killed instantly. All the others escaped with slight injuries.

All of the talent appearing at the Gettysburg Chautauqua comes here from the sessions in Mechanicsburg and goes from here to the Chautauqua at Dallastown.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Permits to Wed Issued at Local Office.

Mrs. Mary E. King, aged 63, of Tyro township, and John E. Lauver, aged 61, of Latimore township, were granted a marriage license on Monday by Clerk of the Courts Olinger. This is Mrs. King's third matrimonial venture. Mr. Lauver was married once before.

LETTERS FROM COUNTY TOWNS

Correspondents send in Many Items of Interesting News from their Respective Towns. Personals and Many Brief Items.

McSHERRYSTOWN

McSherrytown—Mrs. Alveta Eberly, of Dallastown, spent Sunday as the guest of Mrs. Claude Groft.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stark, of York, visited friends in town Saturday.

Hugh Brady, of East Akron, O., is spending his vacation with his father, A. J. Brady. Mr. Brady is employed as stenographer for the Goodyear Rubber Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Little, of York, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Eugene Little.

Mrs. F. P. Krichen and daughter, Delia, and Mrs. Findley and daughter, Margaret, of Washington, spent the day with friends in Brunshtown.

Miss Judith Melhenny is visiting her sister, Mrs. Shuster, of Garwood, N. J.

Miss Minnie Colgan, of Baltimore, is visiting her brother, F. X. Colgan.

Mr. and Mrs. William Toomey, of Dover, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Poist.

Mrs. Charles Dougherty returned to her home in Baltimore, after spending the past two weeks with friends in town and Littlestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Garman and daughter, of Taneytown, spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold, of Hotel Columbus.

Miss Alice Krise left for Sellersville, after spending her vacation with her father, David Krise.

GUERNSEY

Guernsey—The Friends Sunday School held their annual picnic on last Saturday in the Tyson Grove north of Guernsey. Quite a large number were present and all enjoyed the "woodsy" atmosphere, good cheer and also the contents of the baskets. Mrs. Chambers, of Harrisburg, was present as well as some from Philadelphia and we also note Mrs. Hartman and daughter, of Topeka, Kansas.

Anne Black arrived home from a vacation and Mary Thomas, of Harrisburg, also attended the picnic from the home of Miss Eva Cook whom she is visiting. Robert Wickersham and wife, of Mechanicsburg, motored over and returned on Sunday afternoon.

Cyrus S. Griest has purchased a new five passenger "Dodge". W. C. Tyson with six of his friends made a trip to Frederick, Md., a few evenings ago, in his new Hudson.

E. P. Garretson and family returned on Monday evening from a motor trip to Bedford County. They report a fine trip and just escaped the heavy rain, which visited this section.

BASE BALL SCORES

Following is the Result of Games Played Yesterday.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

At Detroit—Detroit, 12; Athletics, 6. Batteries—Dubuc, Davis, Sienn, Stange; Wyckoff, Haas, Lapp, McAvoy.

At Cleveland—Washington, 11; Cleveland, 4. Batteries—Johnson, Alcock, Alsmith; Hagerman, Jones, Coubie, O'Neill.

At Chicago—Boston, 6; Chicago, 4. Batteries—Collins, Carrigan; Benz, Scott, Russell, Schalk.

At St. Louis—New York, 10; St. Louis, 3 (1st game). Batteries—Caldwell, Nannemaker; Hamilton, Cook, James; Koob, Agnew, Ruel.

New York, 4; St. Louis, 1 (2d game). Batteries—Fisher, Sweeney, Nuna, maker; Laudermilk, Slesler, Hamilton, Agnew.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
Boston..... 51 29 628 Washn 42 41 500
Chicago..... 53 32 624 St. Louis 32 49 33
Detroit..... 51 31 622 Athletic 29 52 33
N. York..... 42 40 512 Cleveid. 28 54 341

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 5; Chicago, 4. Batteries—Mayer, Killier, Humphries, Archer.

At Brooklyn—Brooklyn, 3; Pittsburgh, 0. Batteries—Rucker, Miller, Kautlehnner, Conzelmann, Gibson.

At Boston—Boston, 4; Cincinnati, 1. Batteries—Rudolph, Gowdy; Toney, Wingo.

At New York—New York, 4; St. Louis, 3. Batteries—Tessera, Stroud, Dooin; Meadows, Robinson, Snyder.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
Phila. 42 34 553 St. Louis 41 43 428
Chicago 43 37 538 Pittsbz 39 41 482
Brooklyn 43 37 538 Boston 38 43 453
N. York 38 38 500 Cincinnati 32 43 427

FEDERAL LEAGUE.

At Pittsburgh—Pittsburgh, 3; Pittsburgh, 2. Batteries—Bedient, Allen, Kneizer, Berry.

At Chicago—Chicago, 11; Brooklyn, 5. Batteries—Black, Fischer; Seaton, Upham, Marion, Land.

At St. Louis—Baltimore, 8; St. Louis, 6. Batteries—Johnson, Suggs, Jacklitsch; Greene, Herbert, Hartley.

At Kansas City—Newark, postponed, wet grounds.

Standing of the Clubs.

W. L. P. C. W. L. P. C.
Kan. City 48 33 593 Newark 42 41 506
Chicago 43 34 580 Brooklyn 36 48 412
St. Louis 43 35 562 Buffalo 27 51 421
Pittsbz 43 37 538 Baltimore 39 51 383

Evidently Incompatible.

When two people's chief delight is in each doing what the other doesn't want done, it's time they divided the woodpile and went their separate ways.—Judge.

NATION'S GENIUS TO AID OFFICERS IN PERFECTING OUR DEFENSES

Edison Heads Advisory Board and Will Improve Submarines.

Orville Wright to Give His Aid in Developing Air Craft.

ANNOUNCEMENT by Thomas A. Edison of his acceptance of Secretary Daniels' offer to head an advisory board of civilian inventors for the proposed bureau of invention and development in the navy department was received with gratification by all naval officials. Secretary Daniels was especially pleased, because upon Mr. Edison's acceptance depended almost entirely the development of the secretary's plan of utilizing the inventive genius of the country to aid in perfecting the navy as a fighting machine.

Secretary Daniels will ask congress at its next session for a large appropriation for the use of the department's proposed civilian advisory board on invention and development.

Extraordinary appropriations will be asked for also by the war department, in which the development of inventions is handled by the board of fortifications and ordnance and the bureau of ordnance.

Among the names suggested to Mr. Daniels as possible members of the new board were those of Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer; Charles P. Steinmetz, one of the world's authorities on electrical engineering; Hudson Maxim, inventor and maker of guns and explosives; Orville Wright, one of the department may solve is meeting the danger of submarine warfare "with new devices that will assure peace to our country by their effectiveness."

Secretary Daniels extended his invitation to Mr. Edison in a letter in which he expressed his admiration for the inventor's "splendid and patriotic attitude in refusing to devote your great inventive genius to warlike subjects except at the call of your own country."

Can Render a Great Service.

"Such an attitude in these all too commercial times is one that should be an inspiration to our young men," the secretary continued, "and a lesson in the pre-eminent right of one's country

by American Press Association.

THOMAS A. EDISON.

by American Press Association.

SECREARY DANIELS.

to the best that its citizens have that will be of tremendous benefit to us all. There is a very great service which you can render the navy and the country at large and which I am encouraged to believe you will consent to undertake, as it seems to me to be in line with your own thoughts.

"One of the imperative needs of the navy, in my judgment, is machinery and facilities for utilizing the natural inventive genius of Americans to meet the new conditions of warfare as shown abroad, and it is my intention, if a practicable way can be worked out, as I think it can be, to establish at the earliest moment a department of invention and development, to which all ideas and suggestions, either from the service or from civilian inventors, can be referred for determination as to whether they contain practical suggestions for us to take up and perfect."

Naval Officers Would Help.

"In addition, our naval officers, particularly those at sea, are in a position to note where improvements are needed and to devise ways in which these improvements can be made. They have, however, neither the time nor the special training nor in many cases the natural inventive turn of mind needed to put these ideas into definite shape. Were there a place where they could be sent to be worked out and perfected I am sure we would get many noteworthy improvements from this source alone."

"We have, of course, in the navy department energetic and wide-awake bureaus, headed by experts in their particular lines of work, who devote all the time they possibly can to a study of this problem. They have made important contributions to the improvements in the implements of naval warfare and are doing all that is possible with their other large duties. There are unfortunately no officers now detailed who can take time from the mass of work which they are called upon to do in order to devote it fully to studying new suggestions and inventions.

"The department is also unprovided with the best facilities for work of pure experimentation and investigation, with the exception of our testing station at Annapolis, which is as yet a small affair. Most of all, as I have said, there is no particular place or particular body of men, relieved of other work, charged solely with the duty of either devising new things themselves or perfecting the ideas that are submitted to the department by our naturally inventive people."

"I have in mind a general plan of organizing such a department which is still very hazy as to details, but which in a general way meets, so far as the navy is concerned, your ideas of such a department for the government in general. I want to use such facilities for experimental work and investigation work as we have, under the direction of men particularly selected for ability shown in this direction, to whom would be referred all suggestions of new devices sent in to the department and who would work out such ideas to a practical point."

Needs an Inventive Genius.

"I feel that our chances of getting the public interested in and back of this project will be enormously increased if we can have at the start some man whose inventive genius is recognized by the whole world to assist in consultation from time to time on matters of sufficient importance to bring to his attention. You are recognized by all of us as the one man above all others who can turn dreams into realities and who has at his command, in addition to his own wonderful mind, the finest facilities in the world for such work."

"What I want to ask is if you would be willing, as a service to your country, to act as an adviser to this board, to take such things as seem to you to be of value, but which we are not at present equipped to investigate, and to use your own magnificent facilities in such investigation if you feel it worth while.

Photo by American Press Association.

ORVILLE WRIGHT

Has Only Thanks to Give Him.

"For our part, we will endeavor not to bother you with trivial matters, as we will probably have sufficient facilities to handle such small matters as they come up. This is a great deal to ask, and I unfortunately have nothing but the thanks of the navy and, I think, of the country at large, together with the feeling of service to your country that you will have to offer you by way of recompense. Yet so clearly have you shown your patriotism and your unselfish loyalty to your country's interests that I feel justified in making this request."

"If you feel that you would be willing to do this, I would like a little later, when my plans are somewhat more matured, to consult with you as to the details of the organization proposed, so that I can make it as effective as possible for the purpose intended."

Edison Gladly Accepts.

In announcing that he would gladly accept Secretary Daniels' invitation Mr. Edison said that he believed the proposal so important that it should be attended to at once, while the war in Europe was bringing before the public the importance of encouraging and developing ideas and inventions of Americans, especially officers and men of the army and navy.

"The United States is far behind in these matters," said Mr. Edison. "I believe it is highly important for a board of civilians made up of engineers from leading industries to be formed for the purpose of looking into the feasibility of ideas developed by young men. While all ideas that will be submitted may not be feasible, at least they will have the benefit of expert judgment and advice."

"In addition to the advisory board of engineers I would also suggest a department of experimentation, where ideas might be tried out. The cost would be nominal. Only a few acres of land would be required, with proper buildings and a corps of efficient men calculated to carry out experiments under the direction of those suggesting them after they have been approved."

"The European war has served to draw attention to the fact that many American ideas and inventions have been allowed to slip by, and if this matter is put off until the war is over there is danger of it being forgotten."

Save The Baby Use the reliable HORLICK'S ORIGINAL Malted Milk

Upbuilds every part of the body efficiently. Endorsed by thousands of Physicians, Mothers and Nurses the world over for more than a quarter of a century. Convenient, no cooking nor additional milk required. Simply dissolve in water. Agrees when other foods often fail. Sample free, HORLICK'S, Racine, Wis. No Substitute is "Just as Good" as HORLICK'S, the Original

YOU

AN'T LEAN LOTHE LIKE THE LEAN LOTHE LUB AN

Cleaning Pressing K LEAN LOTHE LUB

FOR SALE

Holstein Male Calf, Eligible to Registry. Two weeks old.

C. J. WEANER,

General Deliver, Bell Telephone Gettysburg

I will be in Gettysburg at Pen Myer's Jewelry store every TUESDAY to examine eyes and fit glasses. W. H. DINKLE, Graduate of Optics

Parowax

Keeps Preserves from Spoiling

Simply dip the tops of your jars into melted Parowax (pure, refined paraffin) after filling. This keeps out the air perfectly. Parowax does what rubbers and blistered hands fail to do. Box of 4 big cakes, 10 cents, everywhere.

THE ATLANTIC REFINING CO.

HOT WEATHER COMFORTS

For The Gentleman

Men's open Mesh Union Suits 50 and 90c Suits
"Cool Nainsook" " 50 and 90c "
"B. V. D." " 90c "
Youths open Mesh " 25 and 50c "
Full line of Gents Gauze and Lisle half hose, in the staple colors, including Silk 10 to 50c Pair
Men's Soft Madras Fancy "Nofade" Shirts $1.00

For The Ladies

Ladies' House Dresses, Specially priced at 65c (the $1.00 kind.)
Ladies' Bungalow House Aprons, regular and stout sizes, Chambray Gingham 50c
Full line of Summer Underwear for Ladies and Misses the stay-up kind Union Suits 25 and 50
Separate Garments, all styles 25c
A few last season Shirt Waists, at half price 50c

Dougherty & Hartley

Good in "Absent" Treatment. There is nothing like a little "absent" treatment to cure a man of that tired feeling and make him see your charms in a new and glowing light.—H. Rowland.

Uncle Eben... "Dar wouldn't be so much need of ap. S. P. C. A." said Uncle Eben, "if human folks was as patient an' for-bearin' towards an animal as dey is towards machinery."

Decreased Mortality in Mines. Attention to ventilation and dust prevention on the Rand mines of South Africa has resulted in considerable decrease in the mortality among the natives.

The Ball of Fire

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER and LILLIAN CHESTER

ILLUSTRATED BY C. D. RHODES

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—At a vestry meeting of the Market Square church Gail Sargent listens to a discussion about the sale of the church, and when asked her opinion of the church by Rev. Smith Boyd, says it is a purely business enterprise.

CHAPTER II.

"Why?"

"Snow!" exclaimed Gail in delight, turning up her face to the delicate flakes. "And the sun shining. That means snow tomorrow!"

Allison helped her into his big, practical-looking runabout, and tucked her in as if she were some fragile hot-house plant which might freeze with the first cool draft.

"The pretty white snow is no friend of mine," he assured her, as he took the wheel and headed toward the avenue. He looked calculatingly into the sky. "This particular downfall is likely to cost the Municipal Transportation company several thousand dollars."

"I'm curious to know the commercial value of a sunset in New York," Gail smiled up at him. Allison had the impression that under the cover of her exquisitely veiled lids she was looking at him cornerwise, and having a great deal of fun all by herself.

"We haven't capitalized sunsets yet, but we have hopes," he laughed.

"Then there's still a commercial opportunity," she lightly returned. "I feel quite friendly to money, but it's so intimate here. I've heard nothing else since I came, on Monday."

"Even in church," he chuckled. "You delivered a reckless shock to Rev. Smith Boyd's vestry."

"Well?" she demanded. "Didn't he ask my opinion?"

"I don't think he'll make the mistake again," and Allison took the corner into the avenue at a speed which made Gail, unused to bare inches of leeway, class Allison as a demon driver. The tall traffic policeman around whose upraised arm they had circled smiled a frank tribute to her beauty, and she felt relieved. She had cherished some feeling that they should be arrested.

"However, even a church must discuss money," went on Allison, as if he had just decided a problem to which he had given weighty thought.

"Fifty millions isn't mere money," retorted Gail; "it's criminal wealth. If no man can make a million dollars honestly, how can a church?"

Allison swerved out into the center of the avenue and passed a red limousine before he answered. He had noticed that everybody in the street stared into his car, and it flattered him immensely to have so pretty a girl with him.

"The wealth of Market Square church is natural and normal," he explained. "It arises partly from the increase in value of property which was donated when practically worthless. Judicious investment is responsible for the balance."

"Oh, bother!" and Gail glanced at him impatiently. "Your natural impulse is to defend wealth because it is wealth; but you know that Market Square church never should have had a surplus to invest. The money should have been spent in charity. Why are they saving it?"

Allison began to feel the same respect for Gail's mental processes which he would for a man's, though, when he looked at her with this thought in mind, she was so thoroughly feminine that she puzzled him more than ever.

"Market Square church has an ambition worthy of its vestry," he informed her, bringing his runabout to rest, with a swift glide, just an accurate three inches behind the taxi in front of them. "When it has fifty million dollars, it proposes to start building the most magnificent cathedral on American soil."

"Why?" she pondered. "Will a fifty million dollar cathedral save souls in proportion to the amount of money invested?"

Allison enjoyed that query thoroughly. "You must ask Rev. Smith Boyd," he chuckled. "You talk like a heat!"

"Oh, no," returned Gail gravely, and with a new tone. "I pray every morning and every night, and God hears me." The note of reverence in her voice was a thing to which Allison gave instant respect. "I have no quarrel with religion. Why, Mr. Allison, I love the church." Her eyes were glowing, the same eyes which had closed in satirical mischief. Now they were rapt. "What a stunning collier!" she suddenly exclaimed.

Allison, who had followed her with admiring attention, his mind accompanying hers in eager leaps, laughed in relief. After all, she was a girl—and what a girl! The exhilaration of the drive, and of the snow beating in her face, and of the animated conversation, had set the clear skin of her face aglow with color. Her deep red lips, exquisitely curved and half parted, displayed a row of dazzling white teeth, and the elbow which touched his was magnetic. Allison refused to believe that he was forty-five!

"You're fond of colliers," he guessed.

surprised to find himself with no greater interest in the likes and dislikes of a young girl. It was a new experience.

"I adore them!" she enthusiastically declared. "Back home, I have one of every marking but a pure white."

There was something tender and wistful in the tone of that "back home." No doubt she had hosts of friends and admirers there, possibly a favored suitor. It was quite likely.

A girl such as Gail Sargent could hardly escape it. If there was a favored suitor Allison rather pitied him, for Gail was in the city of strong men. Busy with an entirely new and strange group of thoughts, Allison turned into the park, and Gail uttered an exclamation of delight as the fresh, keen air whipped in her face. The snow was like a filmy white veil against the bare trees, and enough of it had clung, by now, to outline, with silver pointing, the lacework of branches. On the turf, still green from the open winter, it lay in thin white patches, and squirrels, clad in their sleek winter garments, were already scampering to their beds, crossing the busy drive with the adroitness of accomplished metropolitan pedestrians, their bushy tails hopping behind them in ungainly loops.

The pair in the runabout were silent, for the east drive at this hour was thronged with outward-bound machines, and the roadway was slippery with the new-fallen snow. Steady of nerve, keen of eye, firm of hand! Gail watched the alert figure of Allison, tensely and yet easily motionless in the seat beside her.

Perhaps feeling the steady gaze, Allison turned to her suddenly, and for a moment the gray eyes and the brown ones looked questioningly into each other, then there leaped from the man to the woman a something which held her gaze a full second longer than she would have wished.

"Air's great," he said with a smile. "Glorious!" she agreed. "I don't want to go in."

"Don't," he promptly advised her. "That's a simple enough solution," and her laugh, in the snow-laden air, reminded him, in one of those queer flashes of memory, of a little string of sleighbells he had owned as a youngster. "However, I promised Cousin Lucile."

"Well stop at the house long enough to tell her you're busy," suggested Allison, as eager as a boy.

"Let's!" cried Gail, and, with a laugh which he had discarded with his first business promotion, Allison threw out another notch of speed, and whirled from the Seventy-second street entrance up the avenue to the proper turning, and half way down the block, where he made a swift but smooth stop, bringing the step with marvelous accuracy to within an inch of the curb.

She flashed at him a smile and ran up the steps. She turned to him again as she waited for the bell to be answered, and nodded to him with frank comradery. Two vivacious-looking women, one tall and black-haired and the other petite and blonde, and both fashionably slender and both pretty, rushed out into the hall and surrounded her.

For an instant, Edward E. Allison had a glimpse of her, in her garnet and turquoise, flanked by a sprightly vision in blue and another sprightly vision in pink, and he thought he heard the suppressed sounds of tittering; then the door closed, and the lace curtains of the hall windows bulged outward, and Gail came tripping down the steps.

They raced up and into the park, and around the winding driveways with the light-hearted exhilaration of children, and if there was in them at that moment any trace of mature thought, they were neither one aware of it. They were glad that they were just living, and moving swiftly in the open air, glad that it was snowing again that the light was beginning to fade, that there were other vehicles in the park, that the world was such a bright and happy place; and they were quite pleased, too, to be together.

It was still light, though the electric lamps were beginning to flare up through the thin snow veil, when they rounded a rocky drive, and came in view of a little lookout house perched on a hill.

"Oh!" called Gail, involuntarily putting her hand on his arm. "I want to go up there!"

The work of Edward E. Allison was well-nigh perfection. He stopped the runabout exactly at the center of the pathway, and was out and on Gail's side of the car with the agility of a youngster after a robin's egg. He helped her to alight, and would have helped her up the hill with great pleasure, but she was too nimble and too eager for that, and was in the lookout house several steps ahead of him.

When she was quite finished with the view, and turned and went down the hill, one of her tiny French heels slid, and she might have fallen, had it not been for the ironlike arm which he threw back to support her. For just an instant she was thrown fairly in his embrace, with his arm about her waist, and her weight upon his breast; and, in that instant, the fire which had been smoldering in him all afternoon burst into flame. With a mighty repression he resisted the impulse to crush her to him, and handed her to the equilibrium which she instinctively sought, though the arm trembled which had been pressed about her. His heart sang, as he helped her into the machine, and sprang in beside her. He felt a savage joy in his strength as he started the car and felt the wheel under his hard grip. He was young, younger than he had ever been in his boyhood; strong, stronger than he had ever been in his youth. What worlds he might conquer now with this new blood racing through his veins. It was as if he had been suddenly thrust into the fires of eternal life, and endowed with all the vast, irresistible force of creation!

Gail, too, was disturbed. While she had laughed to cover the embarrassment of her mishap, she had been quite collected enough to thank Allison for his ready aid; but she had felt the thrill of that tensed arm, and it had awakened in her mind an entirely new vein of puzzled conjecture.

Gravity with a man invariably leads him back to the consideration of his leading girl in life, business; and the first thing Allison knew he was indulging in quite a unique weakness, for him; he was bragging! Not exactly flat-footed; but, with tolerable strong insinuation, he gave her to understand that the consolidation of the immense traction interests of New York was about as tremendous an undertaking as she could comprehend, and that, having attained so dizzy a summit, he felt entitled to turn himself to lighter things, to enjoy life and gaiety and frivolity, to rest, as it were, upon his laurels.

Gail was amused, as she always was when men of strong achievement dropped into this weakness to interest girls. She did appreciate and admire his no doubt tremendous accomplishment; it was only his naïveté which amused her, and to save her she could not resist the wicked little impulse to tease him. To his suggestion that he could now lead a merry life because he was entitled to rest upon his laurels, she had merely answered, "Why?"

He dropped into a silence so dense that the thump was almost audible, and she was contrite. She had pricked him deeper than she knew, however. She had not understood how gigantic the man's ambitions had been, nor how vain he was of his really marvelous progress. After all, why should he pause, when he had such power in him? She did well to speak slightly of any achievement made by a man of such proved ability. New ambitions sprang up in him. The next time he talked business with her he would have something startling under way; something to compel her respect as she waited for the bell to be answered, and nodded to him with frank comradery. Two vivacious-looking women, one tall and black-haired and the other petite and blonde, and both fashionably slender and both pretty, rushed out into the hall and surrounded her.

(Continued To-morrow)

Gail Watched the Alert Figure of Allison, Tensely Motionless Beside Her.

For an instant, Edward E. Allison had a glimpse of her, in her garnet and turquoise, flanked by a sprightly vision in blue and another sprightly vision in pink, and he thought he heard the suppressed sounds of tittering; then the door closed, and the lace curtains of the hall windows bulged outward, and Gail came tripping down the steps.

They raced up and into the park, and around the winding driveways with the light-hearted exhilaration of children, and if there was in them at that moment any trace of mature thought, they were neither one aware of it. They were glad that they were just living, and moving swiftly in the open air, glad that it was snowing again that the light was beginning to fade, that there were other vehicles in the park, that the world was such a bright and happy place; and they were quite pleased, too, to be together.

It was still light, though the electric lamps were beginning to flare up through the thin snow veil, when they rounded a rocky drive, and came in view of a little lookout house perched on a hill.

"Oh!" called Gail, involuntarily putting her hand on his arm. "I want to go up there!"

The work of Edward E. Allison was well-nigh perfection. He stopped the runabout exactly at the center of the pathway, and was out and on Gail's side of the car with the agility of a youngster after a robin's egg. He helped her to alight, and would have helped her up the hill with great pleasure, but she was too nimble and too eager for that, and was in the lookout house several steps ahead of him.

When she was quite finished with the view, and turned and went down the hill, one of her tiny French heels slid, and she might have fallen, had it not been for the ironlike arm which he threw back to support her. For just an instant she was thrown fairly in his embrace, with his arm about her waist, and her weight upon his breast; and, in that instant, the fire which had been smoldering in him all afternoon burst into flame. With a mighty repression he resisted the impulse to crush her to him, and handed her to the equilibrium which she instinctively sought, though the arm trembled which had been pressed about her. His heart sang, as he helped her into the machine, and sprang in beside her. He felt a savage joy in his strength as he started the car and felt the wheel under his hard grip. He was young, younger than he had ever been in his boyhood; strong, stronger than he had ever been in his youth. What worlds he might conquer now with this new blood racing through his veins. It was as if he had been suddenly thrust into the fires of eternal life, and endowed with all the vast, irresistible force of creation!

Gail, too, was disturbed. While she had laughed to cover the embarrassment of her mishap, she had been quite collected enough to thank Allison for his ready aid; but she had felt the thrill of that tensed arm, and it had awakened in her mind an entirely new vein of puzzled conjecture.

Gravity with a man invariably leads him back to the consideration of his leading girl in life, business; and the first thing Allison knew he was indulging in quite a unique weakness, for him; he was bragging! Not exactly flat-footed; but, with tolerable strong insinuation, he gave her to understand that the consolidation of the immense traction interests of New York was about as tremendous an undertaking as she could comprehend, and that, having attained so dizzy a summit, he felt entitled to turn himself to lighter things, to enjoy life and gaiety and frivolity, to rest, as it were, upon his laurels.

Gail was amused, as she always was when men of strong achievement dropped into this weakness to interest girls. She did appreciate and admire his no doubt tremendous accomplishment; it was only his naïveté which amused her, and to save her she could not resist the wicked little impulse to tease him. To his suggestion that he could now lead a merry life because he was entitled to rest upon his laurels, she had merely answered, "Why?"

He dropped into a silence so dense that the thump was almost audible, and she was contrite. She had pricked him deeper than she knew, however. She had not understood how gigantic the man's ambitions had been, nor how vain he was of his really marvelous progress. After all, why should he pause, when he had such power in him? She did well to speak slightly of any achievement made by a man of such proved ability. New ambitions sprang up in him. The next time he talked business with her he would have something startling under way; something to compel her respect as she waited for the bell to be answered, and nodded to him with frank comradery. Two vivacious-looking women, one tall and black-haired and the other petite and blonde, and both fashionably slender and both pretty, rushed out into the hall and surrounded her.

(Continued To-morrow)

Gail Watched the Alert Figure of Allison, Tensely Motionless Beside Her.

For an instant, Edward E. Allison had a glimpse of her, in her garnet and turquoise, flanked by a sprightly vision in blue and another sprightly vision in pink, and he thought he heard the suppressed sounds of tittering; then the door closed, and the lace curtains of the hall windows bulged outward, and Gail came tripping down the steps.

They raced up and into the park, and around the winding driveways with the light-hearted exhilaration of children, and if there was in them at that moment any trace of mature thought, they were neither one aware of it. They were glad that they were just living, and moving swiftly in the open air, glad that it was snowing again that the light was beginning to fade, that there were other vehicles in the park, that the world was such a bright and happy place; and they were quite pleased, too, to be together.

It was still light, though the electric lamps were beginning to flare up through the thin snow veil, when they rounded a rocky drive, and came in view of a little lookout house perched on a hill.

"Oh!" called Gail, involuntarily putting her hand on his arm. "I want to go up there!"

The work of Edward E. Allison was well-nigh perfection. He stopped the runabout exactly at the center of the pathway, and was out and on Gail's side of the car with the agility of a youngster after a robin's egg. He helped her to alight, and would have helped her up the hill with great pleasure, but she was too nimble and too eager for that, and was in the lookout house several steps ahead of him.

When she was quite finished with the view, and turned and went down the hill, one of her tiny French heels slid, and she might have fallen, had it not been for the ironlike arm which he threw back to support her. For just an instant she was thrown fairly in his embrace, with his arm about her waist, and her weight upon his breast; and, in that instant, the fire which had been smoldering in him all afternoon burst into flame. With a mighty repression he resisted the impulse to crush her to him, and handed her to the equilibrium which she instinctively sought, though the arm trembled which had been pressed about her. His heart sang, as he helped her into the machine, and sprang in beside her. He felt a savage joy in his strength as he started the car and felt the wheel under his hard grip. He was young, younger than he had ever been in his boyhood; strong, stronger than he had ever been in his youth. What worlds he might conquer now with this new blood racing through his veins. It was as if he had been suddenly thrust into the fires of eternal life, and endowed with all the vast, irresistible force of creation!

Gail, too, was disturbed. While she had laughed to cover the embarrassment of her mishap, she had been quite collected enough to thank Allison for his ready aid; but she had felt the thrill of that tensed arm, and it had awakened in her mind an entirely new vein of puzzled conjecture.

Gravity with a man invariably leads him back to the consideration of his leading girl in life, business; and the first thing Allison knew he was indulging in quite a unique weakness, for him; he was bragging! Not exactly flat-footed; but, with tolerable strong insinuation, he gave her to understand that the consolidation of the immense traction interests of New York was about as tremendous an undertaking as she could comprehend, and that, having attained so dizzy a summit, he felt entitled to turn himself to lighter things, to enjoy life and gaiety and frivolity, to rest, as it were, upon his laurels.

Gail was amused, as she always was when men of strong achievement dropped into this weakness to interest girls. She did appreciate and admire his no doubt tremendous accomplishment; it was only his naïveté which amused her, and to save her she could not resist the wicked little impulse to tease him. To his suggestion that he could now lead a merry life because he was entitled to rest upon his laurels, she had merely answered, "Why?"

He dropped into a silence so dense that the thump was almost audible, and she was contrite. She had pricked him deeper than she knew, however. She had not understood how gigantic the man's ambitions had been, nor how vain he was of his really marvelous progress. After all, why should he pause, when he had such power in him? She did well to speak slightly of any achievement made by a man of such proved ability. New ambitions sprang up in him. The next time he talked business with her he would have something startling under way; something to compel her respect as she waited for the bell to be answered, and nodded to him with frank comradery. Two vivacious-looking women, one tall and black-haired and the other petite and blonde, and both fashionably slender and both pretty, rushed out into the hall and surrounded her.

(Continued To-morrow)

Gail Watched the Alert Figure of Allison, Tensely Motionless Beside Her.

For an instant, Edward E. Allison had a glimpse of her, in her garnet and turquoise, flanked by a sprightly vision in blue and another sprightly vision in pink, and he thought he heard the suppressed sounds of tittering; then the door closed, and the lace curtains of the hall windows bulged outward, and Gail came tripping down the steps.

They raced up and into the park, and around the winding driveways with the light-hearted exhilaration of children, and if there was in them at that moment any trace of mature thought, they were neither one aware of it. They were glad that they were just living, and moving swiftly in the open air, glad that it was snowing again that the light was beginning to fade, that there were other vehicles in the park, that the world was such a bright and happy place; and they were quite pleased, too, to be together.

It was still light, though the electric lamps were beginning to flare up through the thin snow veil, when they rounded a rocky drive, and came in view of a little lookout house perched on a hill.

"Oh!" called Gail, involuntarily putting her hand on his arm. "I want to go up there!"

MANY CRANKS TRY TO SEE PRESIDENT WAS FIRST BREAK

All Have Delusions About Ending European War.

SIX RECENTLY ARRESTED.

Number of Secret Service Guards About the White House and Capitol Greatly Increased, and All Suspicious Persons Are Closely Guarded—One Sent by "Spirit of Washington."

Any extreme peace advocate will find it next to impossible to gain an audience with the president from this time on as a result of the number of cranks who have called at the White House recently and aired views on the European war that showed they were mentally unbalanced.

At least six persons, apparently insane, have been arrested by the White House guards in the last few weeks while trying to force their way to the president. They all talked incoherently of the war and how it should be ended.

Among those arrested was Jacob S. Williams, a farmer of Port Matilda, Pa., who said he had been commanded to see the president and deliver the Lord's word as to how to keep the United States from becoming involved in the European war.

"God has been appearing to me for the past month," he said.

Williams' brothers went to Washington and took him home. They said he had displayed an unusual activity in religious matters before he left home. He had a prayer book in his hand when arrested.

Ex-Soldier Held.

Whalen Daniels, a native of Adams County, Wyo., once a private in Troop H, Fourth United States cavalry, is now held for "observation" because he told the police in the capital that he was "a member of a royal family."

Frank Fryck went to Washington recently, went into the White House and said he had been appointed special priest when he was a boy. It had a message from the Lord, he said, which was to instruct President Wilson what to do in regard to the war. Fryck's daughter took charge of him.

Letters received at the president's of the told of the crowning of Herber Joseph Oates, a New Yorker, king of the United States, Belgium and Mexico, and Oates followed the letters, appearing at the White House to take possession. The letters were mailed at Los Angeles, Cal., where he was stopping at a hotel. A loaded revolver and $255 in cash were included in the property taken from Oates. Arrest and incarceration for several weeks did not effect a change in his views, and he was adjudged insane.

Tells of Visions.

Walter Ellman, also a White House caller, is under care and observation at the Washington Asylum hospital, awaiting trial. When a secret service agent stopped him and inquired his mission to the executive mansion he quickly made it plain that he expected to induce the president to change his war policy.

"I see the spirits of Washington and Garfield in my dreams," said Ellman, "and the spirit of Washington commanded me to deliver a message to the president."

While in custody of the police, it is said, Ellman was particularly anxious to discuss assassinations and the shooting of Theodore Roosevelt.

Wassili Gorlah, a native of Russia and resident of Cleveland, O., who was arrested at the White House, wanted the president to appoint him a peace envoy. He said he was the Lord's successor, and an appointment as peace envoy was all that was necessary to end the European war. He is now in the Government Hospital for the Insane.

FRANZ JOSEF'S GRATITUDE.

Austrian Emperor's Thanks Expressed to a Little Girl Subject.

The Neue Wiener Tagblatt reports that Josefina Lederer, nine years old, a pupil of the public school, without the knowledge of her teachers and parents wrote the following poem and sent it to the Emperor Franz Josef:

FOR KAISER AND FATHERLAND. They have starved and have suffered, And have fought for God and fatherland. Many a hero who fell at the enemy's hand, And their blood colored the cold sand, But the sacrifice was for the kaiser and the home land.

The little girl accompanied the above poem with the following letter: "Dear Kaiser—Please do not be angry because I am writing you this letter. Because the war is causing you so much trouble I desire to give you some pleasure and for this reason wrote enclosed poem. Perhaps you will laugh at it, but I am still only a pupil in the fourth class of the public school."

The principal of the school in which Josefina is a pupil recently received a chain and golden locket as a gift from the emperor for the little girl.

Coffin Cheap! Funeral Halted.

A cheap coffin provided by relatives caused the widow of Henry Manwiler to bring suit at Reading, Pa., to halt the funeral until she could buy a better casket.

Export 300,000,000 Cigarettes.

Before the end of July 300,000,000 cigarettes will be shipped from Virginia to the armies in Europe.

Beneficial Fog.

A remarkable fog on the Peruvian coast is known as the "garua." It occurs in a region where rain is unknown, and supplies sufficient moisture to support vegetation.

Diplomatic Exchanges Following German Order.

ONE BEFORE LUSITANIA SANK

Causes That Led Up to the Rift Between the Two Governments and Excerpts From the Various Notes That Have Been Exchanged—No Intimation Given as to the Answer.

President Wilson, assisted by Secretary of State Robert Lansing, is now at work considering the American reply to Germany's latest note, in which the kaiser refused to heed America's demands to change the tactics of the submarines. In the opinion of well-informed men in Washington there would be little delay in answering the latest communication from Germany.

At this juncture the causes of the differences between the two countries are interesting. Following is the official war zone decree by Germany, with excerpts from the various diplomatic exchanges:

I. Proclamation of a War Zone by the German Government, Feb. 4, 1915.—The waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland, including the whole English channel, are hereby declared to be war zone. On and after Feb. 18, 1915, every enemy merchant ship found in the said war zone will be destroyed without it being necessary to ascertain the cargo or the passengers threatening the crews and passengers on that account.

From the Protest of the United States Government, Feb. 13, 1915.—If such a deplorable situation (as infringement of the rights of American citizens) should arise, the imperial German government must really appreciate the fact that the government of the United States would be constrained to hold the imperial German government to strict accountability for such acts of their naval authorities and to take any steps it might be necessary to take to safeguard American lives and property and to secure to American citizens the full enjoyment of their acknowledged rights on the high seas.

III. Destruction of the Lusitania.—The British merchant vessel Lusitania was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the English channel May 7, 1915, when more than 100 American citizens lost their lives.

IV. From the Note of the United States Government to the German Government, May 13, 1915.—This government has already taken occasion to inform the imperial German government that it cannot admit the adoption of such measures (of retaliation against the British government) to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality.

V. From the Reply of the German Government, May 23, 1915.—It is, moreover, known to the imperial government from reliable information furnished by its officials and neutral passengers that for some time practically all the more valuable English merchant vessels have been provided with guns, ammunition and other weapons and re-enforced with a crew specially practiced in manning guns. According to reports at hand here the Lusitania when she left New York undoubtedly had guns on board which were mounted under decks and masked.

VI. From the Reply of the United States Government, June 16, 1915.—Nothing but actual forcible resistance or continued efforts to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman has ever been observed by the United States government.

VII. From the German Government's Reply, July 9, 1915.—In the present war the principles which should be the ideal of the future have been traversed more and more, the longer its duration, the German government has no guilt therein.

VIII. The case of the Lusitania shows with horrible clearness to what jeopardizing of human lives the manner of conducting war employed by our adversaries leads.

IX. German submarines will be instructed to permit the free and safe passage of such [American] or permitted to carry the [American] flag passenger steamers when made recognizable by special markings and notification is given a reasonable time in advance.

X. The imperial government, however, confidently hopes the American government will assume to guarantee that these vessels have no contraband on board, and that arrangements for the unobstructed passage of these vessels to be agreed upon by the naval authorities of both sides.

XI. As Whitman Saw Longfellow.

Walt Whitman characterized Longfellow as poet of the mellow twilight of the past; poet of all sympathetic gentleness, and universal poet of women and young people.

AMERICAN FOOD IS FEEDING EUROPE.

Exports in Eleven Months Reach Enormous Total of $724,000,000.

The large share of the United States in feeding the world during the European war was disclosed in statistics of the department of commerce. Foodstuffs valued at $724,000,000 were exported during the eleven months just ended. This was the principal factor in the nation's billion dollar foreign trade balance. The total exports of food for the same eleven months a year ago were $143,000,000.

Wheat formed the largest item in foodstuffs sent abroad. In all 219,576,000 bushels were exported, an increase of 164,000,000 bushels. It was valued at $319,961,000, an increase of $239,138,000 over the previous year.

Oats valued at $51,630,000 were shipped, an increase of $51,028,000. Flour showed the next largest increase, with a value of $87,650,000, or $37,638,000 more than in the previous period of 1913-14. Almost 5,000,

G. W. WEAVER & SON, Gettysburg, Pa.

GENERAL SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE

This is a great opportunity for MONEY SAVING for our customers because the sale is so comprehensive--- embracing lines from every department.

The vacation season being now at its height brings with it the need of new and additional apparel for indoor or out door wear---at resorts or traveling.

Everything included in this sale is practically NEW--with full assortments to select from in many instances. Reductions are decided price cuts and values are unmistakable.

You know what these SALES have been with us before--and we therefore do not think it necessary to go into details.

COME AND SEE FOR YOURSELF

G. W. WEAVER & SON

Your "Pocket" Compass

Would you go into the woods or attempt to sail the seas without a compass?

You would hardly trust to your senses of direction, would you?

Then why let your "pocket-book" sail the uncharted seas?

Why let it run the risks of shoals and rocks?

Why not chart it straight to the harbor of safe, sane and economical buying.

How?

By making use of the information in the advertising of The Times.

He Didn't Blow His Own Horn

By LOUISE B. CUMMINGS.

One beauty of New England is the lakes set in among her hills. On a still morning these hills are reflected on the lakes, giving as perfect an image as the original. I was sitting one summer morning on the porch of a cottage situated on a point of land overlooking one of these lakes admiring the reflection in company with an old man who had been born and always lived in the place. The trees had been cut away before the steps, leaving open a path leading down to the water and a vista revealing a narrow patch on the opposite shore, in the center of which was a small house. My venerable companion gave me a story about this place, the time being some forty years before.

"Cyrus Copeland lived in that house," he said, "when I was a youngster. He had a wife and a daughter, Molly, the daughter, was as trim a girl as ever I saw. I used to see her driving her father's cows to and from pasture, and she walked as straight as a soldier boy. She wore her dresses not much below the knee, but when I stood beside her I noticed that she was pretty high as tall as I was, and I was a grown man."

"There's never been much to earn around here. Nature designed it for summer recreation, and now we're getting city people and bungalows. Copeland died, leaving nothing to his wife and daughter, and his wife soon followed him."

"If you'll move a little this way you'll see another house--that yellow one with a red roof. A man lived alone in that house--he had no wife--who took considerable interest in the Copeland family. He'd seen Molly grow up from child to woman, and even when she was no more than four teen years old she had kept this man--Jim was his name--from thinking about any woman, although he was past thirty at the time. After Copeland died Jim spent his time inventing ways to make the widow and the girl think what he provided for them was their own, and they were not indebted to him for it. This was no credit to him, seeing that he had no one of his own to do for, and the only comfort he had was doing it for them. He might have married one of them, but he didn't want the widow. She was too old, and Molly was too young for him."

"When the widow died Molly was twenty years old and Jim was forty-two. He saw that some one would have to take care of her since she hadn't anything to live on and no one to tie to. And the worst of it was that Jim had told so many lies that she thought she was well fixed. After her mother's funeral Jim went to see Molly to have a talk. You see, it would be hard for him to conceal much longer that he was putting up all the money for her and the condition couldn't continue indefinitely. There was only one way out of it. Despite the difference in their ages, he must marry her. But how to break the matter to her was a problem."

"Molly unintentionally helped him out."

"There's something, Uncle Jim," she'd been used to calling him Uncle Jim from a child--that I've always wished to know. What was the trouble that preyed on father's mind, and I am convinced, finally killed him?"

"Jim hadn't the heart to tell her and tried to crawlfish, but she hung on and at last he told her. Copeland had had trouble with one Gwynne about a mortgage Gwynne had on his place. One day Gwynne was found dead. It was known that there had been trouble between him and Copeland, and Copeland was accused of the murder. Some neighbors tried to lynch Copeland, and Jim drove them off."

"Nothing more was done about the matter, but Copeland lived the rest of his life under a cloud, for the real murderer never turned up."

"Jim told Molly the story, drawing it as mild as he could as to the part he had taken in the matter, for he didn't want to blow his own horn, but it wasn't likely that Molly could have lived all these years without her father and mother letting her know that they felt thankful to Jim for something. When he came to the part where he had stood against the men that wanted to lynch her father he tried to make it appear of not much importance."

"Molly just threw her arms around his neck and, crying hard, said: 'Uncle Jim, I know from what father and mother have said that what you did was of the greatest importance, but they never told me that it was. I can see now that you acted the part of a--'

"Jim didn't hear any more for her sobs. Of course he sympathized with her and let her cry with her head on his shoulder. After that it came easy for him to explain to her that he had been putting up for her and her mother, and it wouldn't be best for him to keep on doing it unless they were married. Molly saw it in this light and concluded she'd better take the old chap."

"Who was Jim?" I asked.

"Jim? I'm Jim."

"I see. That accounts for the modest part you have given yourself in the story."

"I learned from Jim's wife that his defense of her father was a remarkably heroic act. Moreover, she told me that from the time she was old enough to know what love was she had expected and desired that she would be his wife."

French Ingenuity.

A hollow wooden ball, six feet in diameter, which is moved by the flow of the sewage, is used to remove obstructions from sewers in Paris.

Medical Advertising

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS SPENT ON STOMACH

Pennsylvania Man Gets Quick Remedy for His Long Suffering Stomach.

Henry F. Curry of the Hotel Bartlett, Cambridge Springs, Pa., suffered most desperately from ailments of the stomach and digestive tract for years. He spent a fortune in the pursuit of health.

At last he happened to discover May's Wonderful Remedy. He found relief quickly. Mr. Curry wrote:

"I have spent thousands of dollars for doctors and medicine and hardly got temporary relief, and before I took your medicine I was about discouraged. But after taking your medicine I got great relief. My mental and physical suffering had been so bad that I had to resort to morphine, and even with that I did not get much relief. Your remedy helped me wonderfully. I have a good appetite, sleep well, and have gained weight."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee--if not satisfactory money will be returned.

GETTYSBURG MARKETS

Prices at the Gettysburg warehouse corrected daily by C. Milton Wolf, Jr. Successor to J. Geo. Wolf's Sons Co.

	Per Bu.
Wheat	$1.02
Ear Corn	.85
Rye	.70
Oats

RETAIL PRICES

	Per 100
Coarse Spring Bran	$1.35
Coarse spring Bran	$1.40
Corn and Oats Chops	1.60
Shomaker Stock Food	1.60
Whit eMiddlings	1.80
Cotton Seed Meal	1.70
Red Middlings	$1.60
Baled Straw	.65
Timothy Hay	1.00
Plaster	$7.50 per ton
Cement	$1.25 per bbl.

	Per bbl.
Flour	$5.40
Western Flour	$8.00

	Per Bu.
Wheat	$1.10
Ear Corn	.95
Shelled Corn	.96
Home Oats	.85
Western Oats	.70
Badger Dairy feed	1.30
New Oxford Dairy feed	1.36

THE WESTERN

MARYLAND RAILWAY
Schedule Effective Sunday, June 20, 1915.

Daily, leave 5:50 a. m., for Baltimore, stopping at New Oxford and Hanover.

Daily except Sunday, leave 9:39 a. m., for York and intermediate stations.

Daily, 5:51 p. m., for Baltimore, York and intermediate stations. No connection for York on Sunday.

Daily, 10:16 a. m., for Hagerstown, and intermediate stations and the West.

Daily except Sunday 6:56 p. m., for Hagerstown and intermediate stations.

Daily, 11:22 p. m., for Hagerstown, Cumberland and Pittsburgh.

Political Advertising

For Associate Judge

S. GRAY BIGHAM

Biglerville.

Subject to the decision of the voters under the non-partisan act at the Primary election, Sept 21.

JULY CLEARANCE SALE

Everything reduced for quick sales. Men's and boy's suits and furnishings. Shirts, hats, caps and all other furnishings at cut prices.

Low Shoes Reduced

All of our low shoes for men, women and children are reduced materially. Every Oxford in the place, from the low priced children's shoes to the fine Ralston's for men at reduced prices. A large assortment from which to make your selection.

O. H. LESTZ,

The Home of Good Clothing

Store Open Evenings

Cor. Square and Carlisle St.

GETTYSBURG

SECOND MATINEE

At Grist's Park, York Springs

Saturday, JULY 24, 1915

19 horses have been entered for the pacing, trotting and running races. There will also be a mule race and foot race.

2 Premiums will be given in each class and each race. No entry fee will be charged.

Base Ball Game at 1:00 P. M.

Races start 1:30 P. M.

ADMISSION 10 cents

BASE : BALL : GAME

AND

FIREMAN'S FESTIVAL

At Arendtsville

On Saturday, JULY 24th, '15

BASE BALL AT 2 30 P. M.

In the Evening Festival and Music. Grounds Lighted by Electricity.

ALL ARE INVITED.

NO TRESPASSING

All persons are warned not to trespass on the premises of the undersigned, for the purpose of taking game in any manner; or for fishing, or in any way, injuring or destroying property. All persons violating the laws of the Commonwealth with regard to trespassing on lands of the undersigned will be dealt with under the provision of the Act of April 14, 1905.

J. J. REDDING, Cumberland Twp.
R. 3 Gettysburg.
PAUL S. REAVER, Freedom Twp.
R. 3 Gettysburg.

For Sale

Twenty acres of land on South Washington street.

John M. Warner

A WAY, ON YOUR VACATION?

Let the TIMES follow you. A telephone call giving us your address will insure the daily message from home AT NO EXTRA CHARGE.

It will go to a different address every day--if you say so. We attend to the change and are glad to do it.

FOR SALE

Horse for sale cheap, to buyer who will give him good care.

WM. D. ARMOR.

Cor. Stratton & Middle Sts. GETTYSBURG

DR. M. T. DILL
DENTIST

BIGLERVILLE PA
Will be at York Springs
Wednesday of Each Week.
Bendersville Friday of Each Week

William Tell.
The story of William Tell and Gessler is nowadays looked upon as being a myth, pure and simple--quite as mythical as Washington and the hatchet, or St. George and the dragon.

Not in Terms of Endearment.
"I have observed," philosophically said Professor Pate, "that most of us talk about our neighbors in much the same way that we do about the dandelion."--Kansas City Star.

ALWAYS LEADING

FUNKHOUSER'S

"THE HOME OF FINE CLOTHES"